

How to BREATHE.—There is one rule to be observed in taking exercise by walking—the very best form in which it can be taken by the young and able-bodied of all ages—and that is never to allow the action of respiration to be carried on through the mouth. The nasal passages are clearly the medium through which respiration was designed by our Creator to be carried on. "God breathed into man's nostrils the breath of life" previous to his becoming a living creature. The difference in the exhaustion of strength by a long walk with the mouth firmly closed, and respiration carried on through the nostrils instead of through the mouth, is inconceivable to those who have never tried the experiment. And, indeed, this mischievous and really unnatural habit of carrying on the work of inspiration and respiration through the mouth instead of through the nasal passages is the true origin of almost all the diseases of the throat and lungs, as bronchitis, congestion, asthma, and even consumption itself. That excessive respiration to which some individuals are so liable in their sleep, which is so weakening to the body, is solely the effect of such persons sleeping with their mouths unclosed. The same unpleasant and exhaustive results arise to the animal system from walking with the mouth open, instead of when not engaged in conversation, preserving the lips in a state of firm but quiet compression. As the heat and velocity of the blood through the lungs depend almost entirely upon the quantity of the atmospheric air inhaled with each inspiration, and it is unavoidable that it should be taken in volume, by the mouth, while it can only be supplied in moderate quantities, and just in sufficient proportion to serve the purpose of a healthy, respiratory action, while supplied through the nostrils, it is clear that the body must be much lighter and cooler and also the breathing much freer and easier when the latter course rather than the former one is adopted. Children ought never to be allowed to stand or walk with their mouths open; for besides the vacant appearance it gives to the countenance, it is the certain precursor of colds, and sore throats.

A POWERFUL ARGUMENT.—A Western pettifogger once broke forth in the following indignant strain: "Sir, we're enough for the hull of ye. Me and my client can't never be intimidated nor tyrannized over—mark that. And, sir, just so sure as this Court decides against us, we'll file a writ of prograndar, sir, and we'll—"

He was interrupted by the opposite counsel, who wanted to know what he meant by a writ of prograndar.

"Mean!" yelled the pettifogger, "why, sir, a writ of prograndar is a—a—a—it's a—wall, I don't just remember the exact word, but it's what will knock thunder out of your one-horse court, anyhow!"

A SLIP OF THE TONGUE.—Recently a young lady went into a certain book store for the purpose of purchasing a piece of music entitled, "When I sleep I dream of thee," but by one of those ludicrous mistakes which will sometimes happen in the best-regulated families, she astonished the young gentleman of the store by inquiring if he had the music entitled, "When I dream I sleep with thee!" What the clerk replied is not of record.

"Will you permit a lady to occupy this seat?" said one gentleman to another the other day, in a railroad car.

"Is she an advocate of woman's rights?" asked the gentleman who was invited to vacate.

"She is," politely replied he who was standing.

"Well, then, let her take the benefit of her doctrines, and stand up."

A young prince having requested his tutor to instruct him in religion, and teach him to say his prayers, was answered that he was too young. "That cannot be," said the little boy, "for I have been in the burial ground and measured the graves, and I found many of them shorter than myself."

It is reported that more men died at Andersonville than were killed and wounded in the British army in all the great battles in the Peninsular war in Spain and Portugal.

A CARD.—
WITNER'S BRIDGE, Lancaster Tp. July 30, 1861.
MESSRS. EVANS & WATSON: GENTLEMEN—The small size No. 1 Salamander safe which I purchased from your agent, Mr. Adam Barr, in Lancaster City, on July 20th, 1861, has been subjected to a very severe test, which it withstood in a most satisfactory manner. This safe, containing all my best together with valuable papers belonging to myself and some to my neighbors and friends, and representing a value of over Twenty Thousand Dollars, ($20,000) was in my Mill when it was destroyed on the night of the 27th of Feb., 1860, and passed through the fire unscathed. The safe was on the second floor and fell to the basement of the Mill, and subjected for six hours to an intense heat among the ruins, which was greatly increased by the combustion of a large quantity of confined within the brick walls. After the fire the safe was opened and the books and papers taken out in a state of perfect preservation, the paper not even being discolored. This fact was, however, to many, a better recommendation of your safe than could be expressed in any other words.
Yours Respectfully,
SAMUEL RANCO, Agent.

A CARD.—
WITNER'S BRIDGE, Lancaster Tp. July 30, 1861.
MESSRS. EVANS & WATSON: GENTLEMEN—The small size No. 1 Salamander safe which I purchased from your agent, Mr. Adam Barr, in Lancaster City, on July 20th, 1861, has been subjected to a very severe test, which it withstood in a most satisfactory manner. This safe, containing all my best together with valuable papers belonging to myself and some to my neighbors and friends, and representing a value of over Twenty Thousand Dollars, ($20,000) was in my Mill when it was destroyed on the night of the 27th of Feb., 1860, and passed through the fire unscathed. The safe was on the second floor and fell to the basement of the Mill, and subjected for six hours to an intense heat among the ruins, which was greatly increased by the combustion of a large quantity of confined within the brick walls. After the fire the safe was opened and the books and papers taken out in a state of perfect preservation, the paper not even being discolored. This fact was, however, to many, a better recommendation of your safe than could be expressed in any other words.
Yours Respectfully,
SAMUEL RANCO, Agent.
A large assortment of the above variety of Fire and Thief Proof Safes always on hand and for sale at low rates as agents for
